

Senior Research Analyst (volunteer, remote work)

Capitol Momentum · Berlin, Berlin, Deutschland (Remote)

 Volunteer

 1-10 employees

About the job

We are looking for a volunteer Senior Research Analyst to support Capitol Momentum with its market research and to coordinate insightful data analysis projects.

Capitol Momentum is a Berlin based research and market intelligence data analysis startup, specifically focused on the emerging German NewSpace Industry. We work at the intersection of Space economy, business and Industry analysis. Therefore, general economic knowledge and a broad interest in the NewSpace economy, deep-tech startups, venture capital, financing and business and market data analysis are a big plus. At Capitol Momentum, it is our mission to increase market transparency of the German NewSpace ecosystem and to promote demand from non-space industry for innovative, cost-effective or disruptive business solutions from German NewSpace companies by providing reliable and frequent market research insights.

The ideal candidate is a fast learner, critical thinker, pays high attention to detail and possesses effective communication skills. Analysis of research data and research project coordination in English and German is no challenge for you. You are organized, meet deadlines and take your responsibilities serious.

Responsibilities

- Performing desktop research, data and market analysis
- Coordinating the planning and conducting of research projects
- Quality review of research projects in a senior position
- Create, organize and conduct surveys
- Tracking of Company Outlets and News Sources

Desired Qualifications

- Academic background
- Good problem-solving skills,

- Proficiency in quantitative and qualitative analytics
- aptitude for collection, organization, and analysis of high quantities of data in Excel (incl. Pivot tables and VLOOKUP experience necessary)
- Fluency in English and German necessary.
- Proficiency in Microsoft Office suite (Excel, Word, PowerPoint, etc.)
- Basic knowledge in Google Alerts

A big plus would be

- Experience in space business
- Business administration or scientific background
- VBA

Why joining us?

- Be a pioneer in mapping with us the emerging fast-paced German NewSpace economy
- Contribute to the establishment of the very first market intelligence platform for German SpaceTech companies and build things up from the ground
- Opportunity to develop your research analyst skill set
- Be part of a highly motivated team
- Steep learning curve and opportunity to understand Upstream and Downstream markets while acquiring the ability to assess the German NewSpace economy in its entirety
- Boost your resume exposure with leadership skills by taking on early responsibility with us
- High level of freedom and autonomy due to remote working opportunity
- Flat hierarchy and open communication with the founders

If this sounds interesting to you, do not hesitate to submit your cv/resume along with your earliest starting date via LinkedIn or to mjahnke@capitolmomentum.com.

We will get in touch with you shortly.

22/10/2021